SUPERVISING PRINCIPAL

MR. FRANK KELLER, M. A.

The Ferndale High School Class of 1938 is about to end its career as a school group. Twelve years have been spent in classrooms under the guidance of teachers who have endeavored to bring about adjustments in the mental, moral, and physical levels. All of these adjustments that you have made in these different phases, may be summed up and called education. You have learned to adjust yourselves from one subject to another subject, and from one type of a class to another class. These continual changes have not been so definite as to exactly reflect the textbooks, but this continual changing is so recorded that all of you have unconsciously developed your own character.

Your character should now be able to stand firmly for certain uplifting and noble social attitudes, these kinds of attitudes that will always demand attention and respect from your fellowmen. You should always reflect the highest ideals and the noblest principles.

In order to do this, your education should prove a definite tool for the various adjustments you must make in the future which holds for you a continuous program of changes. You will find gaps left by other units of education that you will be called upon to fill. You will also be asked to deal effectively with new problems at that new particular level of your life. You must maintain, and make additions to all the skills and knowledges that you have developed during your school career. The latest developments in government, economics, science, and the arts will demand that you keep in step with them. Finally, in addition to all of these, learn to live independently in such a way that mutual understanding and happiness are always yours.

THE SENIOR CLASS

President George Simler
 Vice President George Miller
 Secretary Helen Scavuzzo

The class of 1938 played an important part in the activities of the school. It was not until we were Juniors, however, that we organized, electing George Simler, president; William Reese, vice president; and Helen Scavuzzo, secretary. Our class immediately began planning for the annual reception, and it was decided that wax paper should be sold to finance the affair. Just before Christmas, the class rings arrived and were eagerly received. Finally, on May 24, we entertained the Senior Class of 1937 at the Junior-Senior Reception held in the Masonic Temple.

As Seniors, although handicapped by the half-day session, we carried on with our activities as others had done in previous years.

The magazine campaign which proved a worthy success was one of our earliest functions. Soon afterward the Seniors sponsored the selling of candy to cover the debt remaining from the previous year.

A jacket committee was appointed by the president which selected class colors; these were navy blue and crimson.

Classes

In athletics, the Seniors were leaders. As members of the various varsity teams our class proved itself capable, competent, and loyal.

The extra-curricular affairs of the school attracted many of the students who contributed their talents and efforts. The orchestra, band, chorus, Reflector, Courier, Forensic League, and Operetta provided an opportunity for different members of the class to take an active part in the affairs of these organizations.

At last, our Senior Year approached its climax. On March 24 and 25 the class presented the Senior Play, "The Brat," which was staged before capacity audiences with great success.

At last, after many seemingly long weeks, we found ourselves guests of the Juniors at the annual Junior-Senior Reception, held May 18, at the Masonic Temple. On Sunday, May 22, Baccalaurate service was held in the Franklin Street Methodist Episcopal Church where Dr. W. K. Anderson is the minister: Monday, May 23, Class Day exercises were held, and finally, on May 24, we reached our long sought goal—Graduation.

As Seniors, we are grateful for all the things that it has been our privilege to learn, to see, to know, from the school and the persons associated with it. We are reluctant in leaving all the friendships acquired, hating to realize that all of these things we have known together (dances, outings, meetings, our associations with both faculty and students) are finished except for memories which we shall keep for life.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

President	John Bailey
Vice President	Jacob Schnegg
Secretary	Janet Waring

The Juniors, able to overcome the handicaps caused by a short school day session, had a very successful year.

Soon after the election of the officers, President Bailey appointed Margaret Muchesko, Pauline Simshock, and Walter Beals to serve with the officers as members of the ring committee. Since class rings are the insignia of upper-classmen, the Juniors were anxious to choose one early. After examining the rings submitted by several companies, the committee chose three from Balfour to present to the class. With little quibbling the class selected a very modernistic one, made entirely of solid gold except for the little white enameled center containing the school name under the larger gold letter F. The first order arrived in time to be Christmas presents for many, and others received them to wear in the Easter parade.

The Juniors' leading extra-curricular activity was athletics. In the fall the classes came to the support of Ferndale as active members of the winning football team. The training these boys gained will be immeasurable value as regulars in next year's varsity. Although the 1938 basketball team did not receive honors, the year's work was a valuable asset to the the Junior boys. In intramural contests the class of 1939 were leaders. They copped the highest honors in the boys' and girls' volleyball and basketball leagues. As Seniors next year, the Juniors should accept with ease the position of leadership in the school's athletic world.

A number of the Juniors, who did not care to participate in the school's field of sports were musically inclined. With other boys and girls they took parts in the operetta, orchestra, and high school band. As active leaders in Hi-Y and Girl Reserves, or on the Courier and Reflector staffs, the Juniors' contributions were invaluable.

The Juniors and Seniors showed good business ability in earning money for the annual Junior and Senior reception. The Seniors paid the debt left over from last year before the Juniors began their fund which was used for the reception this year. Months of earnest planning prefaced the party in honor of the Seniors, making it a memorable night for both classes.

The Class of 1939 has the prospects of being the first to graduate from the new modernly equipped high school building. Their last school year will be a great opportunity to further develop themselves in scholastic training and to carry on their numerous extra activities. This new opportunity should be an incentive to the Juniors to do their best.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

President Archie Bruce
 Vice President Daisy Shaffer
 Secretary Betty Spangler

One hundred sixteen students entered their Sophomore year at Ferndale last fall. A larger part of this number are commuters who come from nearby towns and boroughs.

The tenth-year students have shared actively with their upper classmen the responsibilities of student participation in the various school activities, and have shown their loyalty to their Alma Mater.

One of the outstanding interests of the Sophomores was athletics. Many of the boys were represented on the varsity basketball, football, and track teams. The largest portion of students participated in the boys' and girls' interclass basketball and volleyball leagues. The experience and practice which the students gained in these activities will greatly strengthen the athletic program at Ferndale.

First Row—J. Kokoruda, H. Adams, W. Coffey, N. Jones, D. Alwine, F. Boerstler, V. Allen, D. Evans, J. Hershberger, D. Brinkworth, E. Kovach.

Fifth Row—F. Klepack, R. Lape, L. Felton, R. Levergood, D. Glavach, W. Livengood, J. Hebda, J. Beltz, J. Hindman, E. Atkinson, J. Lebda.

Classes

The class has distinguished itself by its participation in the many extra-curricular and social affairs of the school. A number of individuals joined the orchestra, the band, the glee club, the Hi-Y and the Girl Reserves. Others of the class who possessed various talents offered their services in helping to make the Reflector, the Courier, and the Forensic League a success.

With the help of the upper classmen and the faculty, the class gradually assumed the role of an important organization.

Toward next year, the Sophomores look with hope and expectation; they consider it the time when they will be the Juniors and may have the opportunity to continue their parts at Ferndale.

"Knowledge alone is the being of Nature,
Giving a soul to her manifold features,
Lighting through paths of the primitive darkness,
The footsteps of Truth and the vision of Song."

THE FRESHMEN CLASS

President	William Bruce
Vice President	Betty Griffith
Secretary	Jack Huffman

Although the Freshmen activities are few in number, the class has definitely made many worthy contributions to the school life at Ferndale. Members of the class have given generously of their talents and support in many of the school activities, and endeavored to advance their interests.

Among the various organizations in which the Freshmen have taken an active part are the band, the orchestra, the music choruses, the publication staffs, Hi-Y, Girl Reserves and the Forensic League. Many participated in the operetta, "The Belle of Bagdad," presented by the musical clubs of the school.

Classes

The Freshmen class has ranked high in the scholastic standard of the school. Consistently many students from its group have been placed on the honor roll.

Probably the most outstanding activity among the Freshmen is athletics. The class has a large representation on the various athletic teams of the school. Their substantial support greatly aided the varsity's and junior varsity's season. As participants in interclass basketball and volleyball many have benefited from the companionship and sportsmanship of the upper classes.

With higher aspiration and determined ambitions, the Freshmen are looking forward to next year, when they will be Sophomores and will endeavor to strengthen the foundation which they already have built.

"Not enjoyment and not sorrow,
Is our destined end or way
But to act that each tomorrow
Finds us farther than today."

THE OPERETTA

The "Belle of Bagdad," written by Godfrey Morgan and Frederick Johnson, was presented in the auditorium December 16 and 17. Directed by Mr. Homer Baker and Miss Ethel Niedlinger, the cast delightfully entertained the audiences with their unusual portrayal of the story. The beautiful costumes and the realistic touch of the stage made the scenes very descriptive and authentic.

SYNOPSIS

A festive Fair Day in Bagdad is marked by the arrival of various visitors, among them being Mrs. J. Horace McCann, the new American Consul, with her daughter, Elsa, and her daughter's friend, Anne. Lord Archie Fitzgibbons, an old friend, is also present, and a little later comes Henrietta Whipstitch. On being presented to the Caliph and his daughter, Jewel, they learn that an assassin is abroad who carries a bomb concealed in a camera. For this reason all persons with cameras are to be shot immediately.

Dick Taylor arrives by airplane from Hollywood, accompanied by his two mechanics, Bob and Bill. They are anxious to find a lovely girl, known only as the Belle of Bagdad, in order to engage her as a moving picture star. They hope to identify her by some small photographs which they carry, and also by an amulet she wears; but in order to make sure they bring a large camera with them to take pictures of all prospects.

Dick meets Jewel, who welcomes him cordially, but the two mechanics meet Ali Ben Mustapha, the chief of police, who sees their camera and orders them to be executed. In order to escape, Bill and Bob resort to disguise, first as Dervishes, and afterwards as members of the Caliph's body-guard. While in this latter disguise, they manage to capture the real assassin, and in return for their valor the Caliph orders Jewel to present Dick with the sacred amulet. This serves to identify her as the Belle. Bill and Bob are freed in time to couple with Elsa and Anne, while Henrietta finds solace in the companionship of Ali Ben Mustapha.

THE SENIOR PLAY

The "Brat," a comedy in three acts, was presented in the high school auditorium by the Senior Class, March 24 and 25. The play, written by Maude Fulton, was directed by Miss Sara Rhoads, assisted by student director, Grace Sandig. A special matinee was given to the grade school Wednesday morning, March 23.

Since the entire action of the play takes place in the living room of a wealthy New York home, Miss Fleming and Mr. Baker, with the aid of several boys, designed an appropriate stage setting. Included in it were a fire place, a large French window, and an open staircase leading to the second floor. Attractive furniture, generously loaned by Gately and Fitzgerald, added to the reality of the scene.

SYNOPSIS

The story centers about a child of the slums, called "The Brat." After much searching through slums and police courts, MacMillan Forrester, an author, finally discovers the model whom he needs as the basis of his book. He takes her into his home to live during the six weeks that he writes. The naive manner of the "Brat" is refreshing among a group of sophisticated people who are accustomed to all pleasure and little work. To the Bishop's wife, she is a "charming little thing;" to Jane, the artist, "a weird little creature" who must pose for her some day; to Angela, she is an incentive to act quickly and to marry Mac as once; and to Mrs. Forrester, the model is only to be endured because Mac needs her.

When the Bishop attempts to reform the new member of the household, "the black-sheep in the happy little fold," he finds her reactions so incomprehensible that he leaves the house in despair. Not even MacMillan, whom she adores and thinks she might marry, understands her; because to him she is still a type to be returned to the slums where he found her. In the entire group, only Steve, the younger son, who knows what it is to be a "black sheep" appreciates her and comes to her defense. In spite of the disapproval of the family, Steve and the Brat are married and are going to live on a ranch which Steve had inherited from his father.

Interwoven into the story is the love triangle between Jane, Angela, and Mac. Angela contrives to win Mac by pretending Jane is spreading false rumors among them, that she is going to marry him in the spring and that she does most of his work for him. Of course Mac laughs at the stories, is caught by Angela's interest in him and proposes. Three months later when the engagement between Angela and Mac is announced, Jane sees through the scheme and reveals it, causing trouble in the romance. However, since Angela and Mac are really in love, as the "Brat" clearly shows them, the affair is smoothed out for a happy ending.

ORGANIZATIONS

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

President Dick Stevens
Vice President Ruth Brant
Secretary Marian Trammer

The Student Council is a representative group of the school. Its personnel consists of students from each home-room.

Although the half-day school sessions were busy, the club found enough time to sponsor many different activities.

The principal function of the Council was to promote the sale of the Ferndale Booster emblems. In addition, the club was in charge of selling the individual pictures of each student.

The primary aim of the organization is to promote in every way possible the best interest for the school. The Student Council has engaged in such minor activities that help to make the school life what it is.

"All your strength is in your union,
All your danger is in discord."

THE HI-Y CLUB

President	Richard Markel
Vice President	Rudy Kobal
Secretary	Wilson Geisler
Treasurer	Forrest Noel
Chaplain	John Coffey

The Hi-Y is an organization whose aims are clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship and clean living. Too many who look on it as a social club fail to realize the fine side of the organization. The Ferndale Club has sponsored a program to help its members religiously, morally, socially and athletically.

Many fine programs were presented this year. Such subjects as vocational choices, social problems, personality traits, friendship and education were discussed. A Bible study contest was also conducted by the club.

The social program of the Hi-Y was very successful. The club sponsored several dances, swims and other activities. The closing event of the year was the Annual Hi-Y-Girl Reserve party.

The organization was very active in athletics. The basketball team won second place in the city Hi-Y league.

The members hope that they may pass their heritage on to future clubs with the thought that its aim will always be before them.

THE GIRL RESERVE CLUB

President	Doras Larson
Vice President	Janet Waring
Secretary	Mae Carlmark
Treasurer	Gladys Todhunter

"Reaching for the best" was the aim of the 1938 Girl Reserves. Due to lack of time and crowded schedules, the club organized late in the semester.

Meetings were held in February during which the club elected officers, learned the Girl Reserve Code and planned for the remaining part of the school year. The girls decided to have fewer social activities and more meetings to foster a better understanding between themselves and others.

Tuesday, February 22, Miss Hartwig, the Girl Reserves' advisor for greater Johnstown and secretary of the Y. W. C. A., spoke to the members of the club on "reaching for the best." Following her talk, the group was entertained with a piano solo by Virginia Allen, readings by Gertrude Alwine and Audrey Mosebarger, and a duet by Gladys and Jean Jones.

Initiation for new members was held March 8 in the form of a covered dish supper in the high school.

Even though the club organized late, many stimulating meetings were sponsored during the last few months of the term.

"I cannot but remember such things that were so precious to me."—Shakespeare.

Although the theme of the 1938 Reflector is as modern as television, the aim is as old as Greece—remembrance. It hopes to bring back memories of our faculty, school, friends, clubs, sport events and four years of accomplishments.

In working out our theme, a new scheme of lines and shadows was used. Doras Larson, the art designer, did outstanding work in planning the title, forward, and sectional pages. Unlike other years, the book has only two sections: Personalities, and Activities.

The staff is particularly grateful to Mr. Paul Kunkle who supervised the work this year. Mr. Kunkle is one of the grade school teachers who has made an active contribution to our high school life as advisor to the Reflector and Courier staffs.

We wish to thank Miss Margaret Fleming for supervising the art work; Miss Sara Rhoads, Mr. George Townsend and Mr. Frank Keller for advice in editorial and financial problems; Mr. Grant Custer for photographing the school features; and all others who contributed in some way to make possible this volume of the Reflector.

"Though it be honest, it is never good to bring bad news."—Shakespeare.

To keep the students in touch with the school events and notes of interest to them, a daily Courier was posted on the bulletin board. This was under the supervision of Miss Rhoads and was written by the members of the staff. Sports, club announcements, schedule changes, greetings and jokes were usually the subjects posted.

Our first big Courier, consisting of four pages, was edited by Dorothy Barron. At Christmas the idea of a magazine style-paper was used. This issue, edited by Mary Jane Mock, proved more popular and the idea was used again for the following volume. Edited by Margaret Molnar, the Valentine issue was again a big success. Pauline Saksek was in charge of the Easter copy which was well received by the students.

With the cooperation of the editors, the staff members, our new adviser, Mr. Kunkle, and many others who willingly contributed their time and efforts, many such papers, climaxed by a fine Senior issue, appeared throughout the year.

THE BAND

Director Mr. Homer Baker
 Drum Major John Hamilton

The band at Ferndale is an integral part of the school life. Each year this organization becomes a more potent factor of the music program. In both membership and quality of players, the band has increased greatly, making possible a very successful year.

This organization affords an opportunity for those who can successfully profit from so doing to become acquainted with various forms of band literature. By playing a great deal of worth-while music, the student develops a knowledge and an appreciation of music.

The band at Ferndale is an integral part of It is called upon to play for the football games and at any school function where its services are required.

A study of the band program indicates its deep musical significance. Representative selections from this year's collection are: "Concord," "Village Chimes," "Little Marie," "The Buglers," "Energy," "Go, Northwestern, Go!"

By adding the band's colorful and dramatic appearance in new uniforms to its fine ability, we have an organization of which we may be justly proud.

THE ORCHESTRA

Each year the school orchestra shows a marked development. Under the direction of Mr. Baker, the organizations have grown both in musicianship and membership, making possible a program of worthy activities.

In the orchestra the students have the opportunity to read, study and actively participate in the playing of selections from the best orchestral literature available. This provides an indispensable role in giving the necessary experience and skill of concert performance. Each year several members are selected from the band and orchestra to take part in the all western State band. The students who were sent this year were William Reese, trumpet, and Richard Humphreys, trombone.

This group of musicians play for the school entertainments at various times. During the year they aided splendidly in presenting the operetta, the senior play, and the commencement exercises.

The little orchestra is the beginners' group who are interested in instrumental performance. Each year a number of the younger students, especially from the seventh and eighth grade, take advantage of the opportunity to study and experience this activity. As the students progress in their ability, they are advanced to the senior orchestra. In this manner each year the orchestras grow larger and more advanced in their musicianship.

THE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Membership in the Glee Club provides an opportunity for musical experience well worth the time of any girl. Forgetting work and care, the group spends many enjoyable moments together each week.

The club is composed of girls from all classes of the school who like to sing and desire to learn good music. The purpose of the organization is to give the students the joy and experience of participation in a vocal group of this kind and to foster a love for music.

Under the direction of Mr. Baker, rehearsals were held each Wednesday, and the girls were taught many delightful selections. Songs of all types—sacred, secular and classic make up the collection which the group sings. Some of the favorites are "Lullaby" by Brahms, "Lo How a Rose" by Praetorius and "Buttercup" from H. M. S. Pinafore.

The Glee Club takes an active part in giving the operetta. This year the "Belle of Bagdad" was delightfully presented by the combined musical clubs of the school.

THE BOYS' CHORUS

The Boys' Chorus is an organization which is composed of boys who are interested in vocal music mainly for the enjoyment which they receive from group singing. Under the direction of Mr. Baker the group enjoys a wide variety of worthy musical experience and social fellowship.

In the weekly meetings the boys spend most of their time in singing, and incidentally gather a few ideas concerning vocal expression, reading music, and part singing.

During the past year the chorus helped in the preparation of the operetta, "The Belle of Bagdad."

Included among the numbers which the boys enjoy singing are "Caisson Song" by Gruber, "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair" by Foster, "The Song of the Marines" by Warren, and several sacred selections.

A careful study of this wide variety of worthy musical experience explains the true value of the boys' chorus.

One of the most magnificent."

THE SWING BAND

Swing—the latest thing everywhere. To keep up with the times our music instructor, Mr. Baker, decided we, too, needed a swing band.

After many try-outs a group of ten were selected. Practices were held each week, and much effort was put forth to make a success of the project. All types of songs were attempted: old, new, fast, slow, dreamy and novelty.

On the day of their first appearance a short demonstration was given at noon. The students, very much attracted, turned out for the afternoon dance. From then on the "Swing Bees," as they called themselves, played every Wednesday for our weekly dances. Also they played for the Allegany Basketball dance.

Members of this band are: Forrest Noel and William Reese, trumpets; Wilson Geisler and Dorothy Hurrel, saxophones; Dick Stevens and Elizabeth Kovach, violins; Richard Humphrey and Frank Roseman, trombones; Jim Patch, drums; John Zupan, tuba; Janet Waring, piano and Mr. Custer, banjo and guitar; conductor, Mr. Baker.

THE FORENSIC LEAGUE

In the Forensic League Contests sponsored by the County at Ebensburg on April 2, nine Ferndale students competed. Of these, Doris Border and Mary Ann Hassenplug received first awards, in poetry and Shakespearean readings, respectively. Doris read the "Marshes of Glynn" by Sydney Lanier and Mary Ann gave the casket scene from the Merchant of Venice. After receiving first place at Juniata, Doris continued to the State finals at Grove City on April 29.

The successful manner in which the students competed brought new honor to the school.

Those who competed in the contests were:

Doris Border	Poetry Reading
Mary Ann Hassenplug ..	Shakespearean Reading
Robert Allison	Declamation
William Reese	Baritone Solo
(Accompanied by Janet Waring)
Elizabeth Kovach	Soprano Solo

1937 RESUME

Much credit should be given the boys who made up the athletic teams of our school in 1937 for accomplishing a feat which no other group of Yellow Jacket athletes had been able to accomplish in one year. This group of boys won for Ferndale the county championship in basketball, track, and football.

The basketball team climaxed one of the best seasons in the history of the school by winning the St. Francis Tournament and the Albert L. O'Conner trophy. This gave the St. Francis "F" club trophy, which all the schools of the county had been trying to win since 1927, permanently to the school. Ferndale won one leg of the trophy in 1932, added another in 1934 and completed the task in 1937.

Members of the varsity were Shaffer, Schwing, Brant, Walker, Tercek, Markle, Martin, Howard and Mull.

The track team won the county championship for the first time in the school's history, receiving two large trophies; one for boys' track and field competition and the other for the boys' relay.

Mike Michlo, mile runner, and the relay team composed of Shaffer, Eppley, Walker and Tercek were undefeated in competition during the season.

The football team, by defeating Lilly 13—0 in a post season game at the Point, won the championship of the county and outpointed other schools in the conference for the Class B Championship of Western Pennsylvania.

The 1937 teams won eight trophies in all, giving Ferndale a trophy case of which we can be justly proud.

FOOTBALL

Ferndale's 1937 football squad, through the course of eleven battles, displayed brilliance that enabled them to establish the best record of a Yellow Jacket team for a number of years. Under the tutorship of Head Coach Fisher and Assistant Coach George, the squad toppled nine opponents, battled to a tie, with one, and met with one defeat, which was handed to the squad by Windber, the State Champions.

The season, one of the most colorful of the school's gridiron history, found the Jackets getting off to a slow start, rising to their true form in mid-season, and upsetting every opponent thereafter to annex the title of the southern division of the Cambria County Football Conference. This gave Ferndale the right to represent the southern division in a post season game with Lilly, the northern division representative, to determine the championship of Cambria County.

The Yellow Jackets climaxed their season by defeating Lilly and winning the championship title of Cambria County.

This year's gridiron eleven was a well-representative team, displaying a spectacular brand of ball. Once the Jackets hit their stride, no opponent was able to mar their record. The unusual speed represented in both the line and backfield, powerful off-tackle thrusts, and deceptive passing and ball carrying featured the Jacket's success.

Coach Fisher will find it hard to replace Miller, Simler, Mull, Huber, Kauffman, and Markowitz in the line in building his 1938 edition of the Yellow Jackets. However, with a fast and capable backfield and a reserve line with some experience and aggressiveness, the coaching staff should mold a team that will hold its own with the strongest teams in the district.

FOOTBALL PERSONNELS

GEORGE MILLER—(Co-captain), Guard

One of the best linemen to wear the black and gold, "Jigg's" place will be hard to fill.

WILLIAM MULL—(Co-captain), End

"Tiny" is a dependable ball-snatching end, and has developed an educated punting toe.

GEORGE SIMLER—(Co-captain), Center

"Sim" was shifted from guard to center and developed into a reliable ball passer and a strong defensive player.

FRED HUBER—End

"Tex" is a hard tackler with a style of his own.

LEON MARKOWITZ—Tackle

"Marky" is a determined and aggressive lineman.

CHARLES TERCEK—Fullback, End

"Terch", a fine deceptive runner, is one of the best defensive ends in the history of the school.

CARL BUSH—Tackle

Although "Callie" talks little, he does his playing on the gridiron. Bush is a hard, dependable tackle.

EDWARD ATKINSON—Halfback

"Eddie", a hard driving ball carrier, is one of the best punters in the district.

JOHN RYCHAK—Quarterback, Guard

"Rych" developed into a capable defensive and offensive guard.

JAMES WISSINGER—Halfback

"Pug", a fast running wingback, should be outstanding next season.

BOB WRIGHT—Quarterback

"Goose", one of the lightest men in the team, makes up in grit and determination what he lacks in weight.

GLENN KAUFFMAN—Guard

"Ham" is a fast and shifty running guard.

JOHN HEBDA—Tackle

A sophomore, "Heb" should be a reliable lineman next year.

WILLIAM BRUCE—Halfback

"Bill" is a promising freshman ball carrier.

HARRY ANDREINE—Guard

Handicapped by lack of experience, Harry did not see much action this season, but he should be a valuable player next fall.

BASKETBALL

The football season closed and practice was started immediately for basketball. Handicapped seriously by lack of experience, the prospect of a successful season was somewhat in doubt. Only one regular remained from last year's varsity, and Coach Fisher was forced to build a new quintet. Practice was rushed as some games were scheduled before the Christmas season.

Ferndale entered a newly organized league this season, the Conemaugh Valley Basketball League, composed of teams from Windber, Cresson, Conemaugh, Franklin, Westmont, and Ebensburg. Although competition was keen between the various schools, Ferndale scored a revenge over some of her rivals; but on repeated occasions, lost to others in the last remaining minute of the game.

The varsity got off to a slow start which seemed to follow the team practically all season, forcing the Jackets to fight an uphill battle through the remainder of the league schedule.

On several occasions the quintet displayed more class and form than any other contenders could hope to match, but at other times the team fell off considerably from their best performances.

Among the high spots of the Yellow Jackets' season were victories over their chief rivals, Westmont and Windber. In addition, Shade Township and Allegany each suffered setbacks handed to them by the Jackets.

The team scoring honors were awarded to Tercek, who netted 155 of the 494 points earned by Ferndale. Wissinger scored second with a total of 103 points.

At the end of the regular season, the varsity entered the St. Francis Basketball Tournament as defending champion. After two successive victories over South Fork and Nanty-Glo, the Yellow Jackets were eliminated from the finals by Franklin. In the consolation game the team upset Cresson 26-14 and received the Smith Solomon Trophy.

Junior Varsity

BASKETBALL

The Junior Varsity finished their campaign with an enviable record. The team battled through twenty-four games and emerged with fourteen victories for the season. The quintet displayed abilities and performances that assure capable substitutes for the varsity positions left vacant by graduation. Most of the Junior Varsity games were played against foreign Junior Varsity squads, but some of their most celebrated victories were taken from older and more experienced quintets.

The team entered in the South Fork Elimination Tournament and here also made an impressive record, their effort earning for them the runner-up title in the final standing of the tournament.

Considering that the Junior Varsity is composed of Freshmen and Eighth Grade boys, their record is outstanding for the season. Much is expected of these basketeters next year.

TRACK

The 1937 track team enjoyed the best season in the history of the school. After an inter-class meet among all the candidates interested in the sport, Coach Fisher selected his varsity material and preparations were started to round the boys into shape and form.

In the opening Junior High Meet with Cochran, Ferndale emerged winner, edging out their opponents by the narrow margin of $75\frac{1}{2}$ points to $74\frac{1}{2}$.

A week later the baby Yellow Jackets met Garfield, and in another closely contested dual won by a score of 76 to 75.

In the Junior Pitt Class B Meet the team was never in any great danger. The final results showed that Ferndale had scored 48 points to win first place with the runner-up scoring second, earning only 20.

Only five boys competed in the District VI Track Meet at Altoona. The relay team, composed of Tercek, Shaffer, Walker, and Bruce, took first place, and Michlo captured first place in the mile run.

Ferndale won first place in the County Track and Field Meet at Ebensburg. Although the Yellow Jackets tied in 1935, lost by 3 points in 1936, this marked the first time a southern school had been able to wrest a track championship from the northern Cambria schools.

The outstanding boy for the meet was Richard Shaffer, who scored more than half of his team's points. It was largely due to Shaffer that Ferndale had a record in 1937 to be proud of. Mike Michlo was the best miler that ever represented the school to date.

BOYS' VOLLEYBALL

The volleyball league was a distinct success this season. With the opening of school the league was organized and representative teams were selected from each class. The schedule was planned so that each team would play a three game series.

The games were played at noon every Monday and Wednesday. As the season advanced, keen rivalry developed, and the competition between the players was very close. Two teams, the Juniors and the Seniors, were fighting neck to neck for the league title. In order to decide the pennant winner, a playoff was necessary between the two league leaders. Although an exciting game was expected, the Juniors easily defeated the Seniors for the title.

Having won the volleyball championship their Sophomore year also, the Juniors have held the pennant for two successive years.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball has always been one of the key interclass sports for the girls at Ferndale. Approximately ninety students from the four high school classes participated in the activity this year. Many of the games proved to be real battles since interest and competition were keen throughout the schedule. Sportsmanship, clean fun, friendly rivalry, and good playing made the league exciting and interesting to the very end.

Each of the classes entered its strongest team. Although some of the players were more experienced than others, the beginners applied the old rule of learning by doing to achieve some splendid results.

Two teams, the Juniors and Sophomores, were fighting an even race for the championship, but the Juniors edged out their opponents to keep their record unbeaten and to claim the interclass volleyball pennant for the year.

Interclass

BOYS' BASKETBALL

The boys' interclass basketball league was organized into two divisions, the Majors and the Minors. Each class selected two teams; the more experienced boys playing on the Majors team, while the players with less skill competed in the Minors. The league games were divided into two halves, the winner of the first half to compete against the second half winners for the championship.

The games were exceedingly interesting and exciting. Teams went to the bottom only to turn up later with a winning combination.

At the halfway mark on the schedule the leaders of the Majors played the winners of the Minors. It happened that the Seniors were leading in both leagues. After a hard battle, the Majors emerged victors. Again, at the close of the second half, the two Senior teams were heading the league. In the playoff, the Senior Majors gained the undisputed championship of the interclass basketball league for the year. The results of the season are:

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Interclass basketball was one of the outstanding sport events in the girls' program of athletics this year. The league was composed of a team from each class, and approximately eighty students took an active part in the contests. The rivalry between the class teams made most of the games interesting and hard-fought.

The Junior team swept through the season undefeated to capture the basketball honors for the year. Although the other teams finished in the lower brackets of the league, each group provided much competition to help make the interclass league as successful and exciting as it was.

The basketball program helps to find for each girl a place in the recreational field, and to promote the physical well-being and sportsmanship among the students.

The Varsity F Club is an organization whose membership is composed of all athletes who, through their services on a varsity team, have been awarded a letter.

The purposes of the club are to develop co-operation with the alumni in supporting the school athletics, to boost the athletic program, to create a more friendly understanding between athletes, and to participate in helping to raise the standards of athletics at Ferndale.

Many interesting programs were sponsored during the year. One of the most enjoyable, as far as the members were concerned, was the initiation of the new members. Through the efforts of Coach Fisher, several dances were held after the basketball games. At one of the school assemblies Coach Bruce Fisher presented the football awards to the boys who earned them this season. In presenting the awards, he explained the rules and morals of the club to the student body. An important function of the group was promoting the interclass sports. With the boys' help a very successful program was worked out and managed.

The annual Athletic Party climaxed the program for the year. The letters were awarded to the athletes who fulfilled the requirements in the different sports.

The club enjoyed a very successful year, and through the cooperation of the sponsors, the members have benefited greatly.

FEATURES

Class Will

We, the graduating class of 1938, about to leave Ferndale High School do hereby make, declare, and publish this our last will and testament, and in so doing declare all former wills and promises null and void.

ITEM A: To the faculty, we wish to express our sincere gratitude for their willing help and assistance during our four years of high school life.

ITEM B: To the Junior Class, we bequeath the Senior's dignity, providing it is worn properly.

ITEM C: To the Sophomores, we leave the satisfaction of knowing their long-sought-after goal is only two years away.

ITEM D: The Freshmen are to receive the use of our faculty for three more years, with instructions to keep the growth of gray hairs to the minimum.

ITEM E: The following endowments are made with good intent in the hope that they will be received in the proper manner.

To John Bailey is intrusted Ann Cauffiel's practice of delaying her school work until the last minute.

The knack of eating candy in class is awarded by Betty Myers to Betty Howard.

John Hochstein willingly hands over his quiet way to Eileen Shiber.

Julia Wojnaroski will permit Helen Molnar to use her sober expression.

The art of getting caught chewing gum, Helen Scavuzzo leaves to Marian Trammer.

Edith Coshun imparts her continual chatter to Jean De Army.

Mary Baft's brisk movements are willed to Lee Ripple, providing he uses them.

To Leona Pittman, Betty Seesholtz surrenders her love for jazz.

That special talent of Gertrude Alwine to give character portrayals is intrusted to Florence Borisek.

Esther Stahl and Lloyd Howard leave their dark complexions to Orpha Strayer.

To Helen Bush, Dorothy Shaffer wills the leading part in the operetta.

Gladly, Herbert Greig yields his position on the typing list to Catherine Brendlinger.

Sue Michlo hands down to Charles O'Connor her ardent approval of Roosevelt.

To Virginia Reese is left Doras Larson's extraordinary use of words.

Bill Mull leaves his ability to sleep in class to Pauline Simshock.

To Bert Brendlinger is left John Coffey's stately bearing.

Frank Tomkowski is to acquire Walter Rose's knack for getting into mischief.

Herschel Dick wills his contagious laugh to David Shumaker.

That talent for composing last minute public speaking talks, Ann Warsing leaves to John Zupan.

Leon Markowitz bequeaths his tackle position to Alexander Keenan.

To Mary Ann Hassenplug, Violet Eppley presents her bashfulness.

Mary Jane Mock wills her typing accuracy and speed to James Saly.

Jack Bush's "Harpo Marx" hair cut will be bestowed upon Lloyd Baroni.

Agne Malinak acquires Dorothy Barron's counter in the five and ten.

David Bowman will receive the delight George Lishka obtains from trapping

The method George Miller uses to "get around" is transmitted to Dean Blue and Wade Umberger.

Elsie Boerstler yields her accuracy to Virginia Rish.

Miriam Speck and Sophia Youhouse decided to advance their formula for writing secret notes to Martha Govaker.

Being a manager, Richard Markel can resign this position to William Griffith.

Class Will

Mary Ellen Leventry's good working habits are gladly imported to Anthony Morbit and Walter Ritchey.

Forrest Noel surrenders his ability as a candy salesman to Betty Barron.

Martha Hindman grants her cheery smile to Eileen Daugherty.

Mary Cherry takes Dorothy Hurrel's place in the band.

Betty Ashcom cedes her composure in embarrassing moments to Ruth Brant.

Walter Beals receives Donald Levergood's job of dusting erasers.

Erma Rhodes, Geraldine Rininger and Jean Young procure Helen Negrey's detailed health talks.

The tailored clothes of Mary Trexel are transferred to Janet Waring.

Gordon Berkey should be happy to accept Rudy Kobal's friendly smile.

Spending her afternoons in school is surrendered to Alice Fay by Pauline Saksek.

The famous "colonial" hair cut of Dick Stevens is begrudgingly endowed to Charles Tercek.

Betty Helsel's plans to become a nurse are willed to Helen Cvrkel and Rosetta Sunch.

All the duties of hall inspector, Clifford Hill grants to William Rogers.

Bernard Thomas acquires Thomas Falsone's habit of thinking out loud.

To Agnes Berchick, Fern Hershberger and Clara Herzog; Grace Sandig hands over her gracious and charming manner.

Paul Rager hands down his perpetual bluffing the teachers to Alice Eash and Jacob Schnegg.

Gladys Jones has been accorded Alice Heslop's habit of just getting to school on time.

The art ability of Elinor Hillegas is transmitted to Paul Rummel and Jim Young.

Betty Wendel cedes her friendliness to Rebecca Gindelsberger.

Carl Bush is to receive Robert Grumbling's military bearing.

Dorothy Fisher hands over her slow and easy behavior to Grace Kaufman, Lois Kane and Caroline Kamiel.

Andrew Smakula intrusts his politeness on duty to Robert Wright.

Betty Spory wills her long journey to school to Anne Schwing.

Homer Leventry transfers his deep voice to Ernest Shull.

Emma Lees cedes her height to Cora Eppley.

The Dravis Twins relinquish their double acting to Joseph Davis.

Those long class recitations of Bill Geisler are left to Alvin Allshouse and Rosemary Burns.

Curtis Koon inherits Margaret Molnar's desire to answer questions.

Warren Wiley unwilling inherits Robert Allison's nickname, "Icewagon."

Regretfully, Glenn Kauffman and Bernard Fidler bestow upon Edgar Howard their old Fords.

George Simler's dancing style is presented to Mike Batz.

With a sigh of relief, Harry Redick resigns that five mile walk to school each morning to Sam Rose.

George Byers imparts to Victor Balog and Hannah Hildebrand his Trig ability.

To Vera Mull, Violet Berkebile wills her ability to sew.

Daniel Cauffiel's serious attitude toward life is inherited by Charles Dibert and John Rychak.

To Charles Barnes, Fred Huber leaves his well-worn football uniform.

Gerald Feather cedes his knack of slipping in before the tardy bell to Margaret Muchesko.

To Martha Govaker, Nick Sunch leaves his friendly attitude.

Virgil Eicher presents Vera Mae Hill and Mary Mellott his retiring nature.

To Helen Bowser and Dorothy Trammer is left Margaret Grahame's job of property manager.

Vivian Naugle bestows upon Julianne Knapp her position as librarian.

Alice Moore and Vada Lohr inherit Edna Cruickshank's love for public speeches.

Elva Murray imparts her flashing eyes to Ruth Livingston and Edna Mae Peters

To Betty Clark, Ruth Beihl wills her ardent ambitions to become a missionary.

Class Will

Dorothy Boyer and Mary Lou Porter are to receive Dorothy Buechley's ability to tickle the ivories.

Mary Ellen Rankin and Thelma Seigh impart their ability to keep their houses spick and span to Grace Mackell and Ruth Shikalla.

Marian Mock bequeaths her love of arguing to Mary Grace Mishler.

Doris Border leaves to LaRue Green her ability to appreciate good music.

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, DO HEREBY AFFIRM THAT THIS IS THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE SENIOR CLASS. SIGNED AND WITNESSED THIS THIRTY-FIRST DAY OF MARCH, IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD, ONE THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-EIGHT.

Class Prophecy

In the course of my Sophomore year at college in the year 1940, I had the good fortune to make the acquaintance of the brilliant professor, Hendrick Manning. One evening while discussing a problem with Professor Manning, he asked me to witness the trial of a marvelous invention. We stepped into a sound-proof laboratory where countless wires and humming dynamos were causing a nerve-wracking drone. In the center of the room stood a huge machine which caught my eye immediately. It was composed of very intricate parts such as coils, tubes, generators, leydon jars, and rectifiers—a truly ingenious invention. On the left of the strange apparatus was an oval-shaped view-plate or screen which when examined closely, I found composed of an aluminum alloy containing radium. At the back of the screen were five electro magnets arranged in a star fashion. They were connected indirectly to the cathoid tube, first going through four strange looking metal cases. To the right of the machine was a large switchboard containing many knife switches, tuning dials and three electric eyes for delicate tuning.

Professor Manning stood at the switchboard giving commands and throwing numerous switches. At last, all was ready and the strange apparatus began to function. My attention was immediately focused to the view-plate which glowed weirdly with effervescent light. Strange shadows flickered across it but in the matter of a few seconds the plate became quite clear. Professor Manning informed me that what I viewed was down-town New York. On the corner of the crowded streets I recognized my old school chum, Bob Allison, who appeared to be about forty-five years of age. Seeing Bob in the future aroused my curiosity concerning other school chums of Ferndale High and I asked Professor Manning if we might try to locate my other school companions in their future lives. This idea pleased the professor and he agreed to my suggestion.

The next picture that appeared on the view-plate was the inside of a pawn shop. The owner and proprietor was none other than Leon Markowitz, who was doing a flourishing business. The reason for this success was due to the fact that he was established near the campus of Riverview College. The dean of the school happened to be Doctor William Reese, a graduate of Columbia University. Visiting the College at the time was the honorable John Coffey, the governor of Alabama. The physical education instructor at the College was George Simler; Helen Scuvazzo, a former actress, was coaching dramatics.

Professor Manning next turned the machine, at my request, to the "Hi-de-Ho" night club in my home town of Johnstown. The club was owned by Harry Redick and the popular orchestra, "The Racketeers," which was directed by Forrest Noel entertained each night. His leading violinist was the celebrated Dick Stevens and the leading saxophonist was Dorothy Hurrel. Forrest had recently written a new song, "Trumpeting Trump To You," dedicated to Rudy (Clark Gable) Kobal. Among the crowd present at the club I recognized a party of my old chums, composed of Mary Baft, who was a well-known New York model visiting her home town, and Bettie Seesholtz, who was the featured soloist at the club and who had won much fame by several song hits she had written. In the party I also recognized Sophia Youhouse, who had become the interior decorator of the new White House. Over in the corner, scribbling rapidly in a note-book, I saw Ruth Biehl. Ruth had become a missionary to India but during a short vacation at home she was taking notes for a book entitled, "The Dangers Confronting Modern Youth." Just as Professor Manning switched the machine elsewhere, I noticed Herschel Dick standing at the door of the club. Herschel was now a prominent man about-town.

The view-plate now seemed to be in the vicinity of Ferndale and as it passed over the borough I noticed many astonishing changes. Richard Markel was the new Justice of the Peace. Next door to his office was located Edith Coshun's hardware store; while close by, George Lishka, who had followed up his hobby of trapping, maintained a prosperous fur business. Vivian Naugle had opened a school to instruct girls in the art of "How to Be a Good Cook," and among her most studious pupils were Elva Murray and Marian Brubaker. Failing to find any more of my friends in this region, Professor Manning inquired of me where we might find more of my former school friend. I replied that they might be found entertaining others, so with this thought in mind, he turned the controls and the view-plate showed Madison Square Garden where the featured attraction for the evening was the Olympic ice-skating champion, Donald Levergood. The announcer at the event was Jack Bush.

The next picture to be seen on the screen was a crowded theatre in Chicago. There Betty Helsel was playing the lead in "Camille" and Bernard Fidler was cast as her leading man. The performance was splendid and I could see that their success was assured.

Professor Manning next turned the controls to that well-known American city, Hollywood.

Class Prophecy

Strangely enough, none of my former classmates were picture stars, but several of them were discovered working in other picture businesses. Ann Warsing was employed as a director and Nick Sunch helped the Hollywood stars to keep slim. Nick had perfected a "get-thin-quick" machine which was guaranteed to take off ten pounds in ten days. Near Hollywood was the make-up factory of Rager and Byers, Inc. which seemed to be doing a good business since both boys knew the business thoroughly.

As there were no more friends of mine in Hollywood, Professor Manning switched the controls and the silver sands of Hawaii appeared on the view-plate. As the islands came into view we heard distant sounds that seemed to be some sort of music. There on the shore was a strange sight—Geneva Hoffman on one side of the beach with her Hawaiian guitar players and Pauline Saksek on the other with her swing band. Each leader was trying to outplay the other but I never knew the outcome for the machine was quickly turned to Texas.

In Texas, Glenn Kauffman had established a flying school and his head mechanic was Herbert Greig, who also wrote plays as a side-line. Not far from the airport we noticed the flags of a circus tent and as the screen was adjusted nearer I recognized the side-show barker, Gerald Feather. The main attraction of the show was the sword-swallower who, much to my surprise, turned out to be Homer Leventry. This seemed to be the end of my school chums in Texas so the dials were turned to Florida.

However, we discovered Andrew Smakula and Betty Wendel on one of the numerous highways. They appeared to be enjoying their honeymoon in a trailer which was covered with lion skins, monkey tails, and many other trophies of Andrew's recent game hunting expedition to Africa.

As the screen focused upon Florida, the first sight we saw was a crowded stadium. Upon concentrating the view-plate, we discovered that the event was the annual six-day bicycle race of which the leader was now Bill Mull and it seemed to be certain that Bill would keep his place at the front. Not far from the stadium was a lunch stand called "Double Trouble." I wasn't at all surprised to see that it was owned and operated by the Dravis twins, Ted and Tod. A large sign on the front announced that their super-special was the "Twin Hamburger." The one and only waitress was Martha Hindman who lured the customers by singing popular songs. Near the lunch stand was a military training camp where we discovered Fred Huber and Bob Grumbling had become hard-boiled army commanders.

Professor Manning next suggested that we view the continents to discover more of my former school chums. As we crossed the ocean the screen sighted a large ocean liner and we discovered the commanding officer of the boat was Lloyd Howard.

After turning the controls to Europe we stopped first at Paris. There the newest sensation was an America dance team called "Jimmy and Jean." This was only the professional name however, for the pair turned out to be Walter Rose and Mary Jane Mock. Their grace and charm had brought them great success but they seemed unaffected by it.

The next stop in Europe was the old city of London. Here we discovered George Miller as a London bobby, or a policeman as they are called in America. Thelma Seigh had married an English duke and was living in his ancient castle just outside of London. Thelma was now known as the Duchess Smathers. In London we also discovered Virgil Eicher running a Chinese restaurant known as the "Chop Suey Corner." Just up the street was an exclusive dress shop for midgets which was owned by Doris Border.

After covering the other countries of Europe, and failing to find any more of my old friends, Professor Manning adjusted the switches and brought us into the wildest jungle of Africa. In this remote section of the world we found Daniel Cauffiel heading an expedition. Dan had been a silk stocking salesman in the United States but hadn't done so well; therefore he had conceived the idea of selling silk stockings to the natives of Africa. Thomas Falsone and Clifford Hill were accompanying him, the first selling fur coats, and Clifford selling hair pins. In Egypt we saw John Hochstein, a well-known archaeologist, diligently searching for the lost tomb of Phoenician I.

Returning to the United States we visited a national radio studio where the "Three Sparks", who had taken the place of the Boswell sisters in radio, were featured for the evening. This charming trio was composed of Miriam Speck, Betty Spory and Esther Stahl. As the program consisted of an all-girl arrangement we found Dorothy Barron as the announcer, Marian Mock, the principal speaker; Eleanor Hillegas, the comedienne; and Dorothy Fisher, a ventriloquist.

At my request, Professor Manning turned the view-plate westward. As we passed the Philadelphia tennis courts we saw Margaret Grahame defending her seven-year title as tennis queen of the United States. In Montana we came upon a race track where the favorite to win was Gertrude Alwine with her new racer, "The Flying Fish." Across the street we observed the mortuary owned by Anne Cauffiel and Elsie Boerstler. As the view-plate drifted along the road it passed a truck which proclaimed that it was one of the Trexel Trucking Company. In the state of Washington we discovered that Sue Michlo had inherited a lumber camp from an uncle and was doing a very profitable business. Not far from the camp was a dancing school guaranteed to make any patron an expert dancer in ten easy lessons. It was owned by Betty Myers and Violet Berkebile. Their star pupil was Julia Wojnaroski who had an ambition to be an adagio dancer.

Class Prophecy

From the state of Washington we proceeded to turn the screen through Canada. The first former school friend that we discovered within the Canadian border was Dorothy Buechley, who was established as manager of the Canadian Branch of the Hershey Chocolate Company. Her private secretary was Edna Cruichshank. Not far from Dorothy's office we saw a flower shop owned by Violet Eppley, and next door was a pet shop operated by Alice Heslop. In a public school in Quebec Emma Lees was teaching short hand and typing, and Mary Ellen Leventry was the instructor of home economics.

This seemed to complete my school-mates in Canada so the dials were regulated back to Maine. There we found Helen Negrey operating a tourist camp. While in Portland we discovered Mary Ellen Rankin and Dorothy Shaffer editing the Portland Tribune. In Connecticut we found Grace Sandig as an attorney defending Doras Larson who had been falsely accused of bigamy. Across the street from the court house was an attractively decorated window filled with French pastries, a shop owned and operated by Margaret Molnar.

Thus having been informed of my fellow students' fates or successes, the professor switched off the machine; the view-plate grew dim and shadows flickered across it slower and slower until the screen was blank. When I looked at my watch, I was surprised to find it was past midnight. I must be getting home; so I thanked the professor for his time, bid him good night, and left, wondering if the machine was right. Time will tell.

COMMENCEMENT

The Commencement program was held on May 24 in the auditorium. It consisted of a different type of program in that it presented a play based on "The New Leisure." Its purpose was to show everyone the importance of knowing how to spend his leisure time in a worthy manner. Over forty per cent of the Senior Class participated in the program. The students who had speaking parts were: Lloyd Howard, Marian Brubaker, Marian Mock, Margaret Molnar, Pauline Saksek, Grace Sandig, Mary Jane Mock, Gertrude Alwine, Richard Markel, Wilson Geisler, Elva Murray, Robert Allison, Betty Ashcom and George Simler.

Those students who represented sports and who aided in the production were: Sue Michlo, Dorothy Buechley, Doris Border, John Hochstein, Dorothy Hurrell, Walter Rose, Fred Huber, Rudy Kobal, Martha Hindman, Homer Leventry, Ted Dravis, Betty Spory, Doras Larson, Elsie Boerstler, Edith Coshun, Forrest Noel, Dorothy Barron, Ruth Beihl, Ann Warsing, Dorothy Shaffer, Violet Berkebile, Helen Negrey and Donald Levergood.

The new type of program was very successful and hopes are high that we may have similar programs in the future years.

The teachers in charge were: Miss Statler, supervised the play writing; Miss Neidlinger, coached the cast; Miss Fleming, stagecraft; Miss Myton, costumes and Mr. Baker, music.

1937 OPERETTA STAGE

We commend Miss Margaret Fleming, Ferndale's art teacher, for the extraordinary scenery she painted for the two operettas—H. M. S. Pinafore, presented in May, 1937 by the grade school and for The Belle of Bagdad by the high school in November, 1938. Miss Fleming's work has added much to the success of our stage productions during the year.

Mary Jane—"Would you hook this dress for me?"

Pauline—"Why? Don't you want it any more?"

"Your neighbors are honest, I hope?" one asked the old negro.

"Yassir, dey is."

"But you keep that loaded shotgun near your hen coop."

"Yas, dat's to keep 'em honest."

A pious and uncommonly homely spinster was accosted by a staggering drunk.

"Lady," he said, "you're the homeliest person I ever saw."

"And you, sir," replied the spinster, "are the drunkest man I ever saw."

"Mebbe so, lady," countered the drunk, "but I'll be okay tomorrow."

Before marriage: he talked, she listened. 1 year after: she talked, he listened;
5 years after: they talked; the neighbors listened.

While walking down the street he discovered a man wearing three coats while painting his barn. He said:

"Say, Harry, it isn't cold enough for three coats."

"No, sir, but directions on this can of paint read: 'For best results put on three coats.' "

Champ—"What's my temperature, Doc?"

Doc—"Hundred and three."

Champ—"What's the world's record?"

A Chinese immigrant was being questioned by a custom's officer.

"What is your name?" asked the officer.

"Sneeze," said the son of the Orient.

"Is that your real name?" asked the officer.

"No, sah," replied the immigrant. "Me translate it into velly good English."

"Well, what's your real name?" persisted the officer.

"Ah Choo," said the Chinese.

Miss Rhoads—"Correct this sentence—'Girls is naturally better looking than boys.' "

Fat Rose—"Girls is artificially better looking than boys."

Dentist's Daughter—"Well, dear, have you asked father for my hand yet?"

Shy Suitor—"No. Every time I step into his office I lose courage. Today I allowed him to pull another tooth."

"Gracious! How fat Betty is getting to be!"

"That's because she daily doesn't."

A beggar approached him, asking for a dollar.

Victim—"Seems to me you have pretty big ideas in asking for a dollar."

Beggar—"Well, sir, I'm putting all my begs in one askit."

The critic started to leave in the middle of the second act of the play.

"Don't go now," said the manager. "I promise there's a terrific kick in the next act."

"Fine," was the retort; "give it to the author."

Smart Alec—"I hear you got thrown out of school for calling the dean a fish."

Dumb Dora—"I didn't call her a fish. I just said 'That's our dean' real fast."

Busy man (using phone)—"Give me 2-2 double 2."

Operator—"Two-two-two-two?"

Busy man—"Yes and hurry up. I'll play trains with you later."

Jiggs—"You've been out with worse-looking fellows than I am, haven't you?"
She did not reply.

"I said you've been out with worse-looking fellows than I am, haven't you?"

"I heard you the first time. I was trying to think."

Her Pa—"Say, it's past midnight. Do you think you can stay here all night?"

Sim—"Gosh, I'll have to telephone Mother, first."

Father—"Where's that young man who was calling on you?"

Betty Ashcom—"Oh, he left in a huff!"

Father—"A huff? A huff? They are getting so many new cars on the market now, a fellow simply can't keep track of them."

A chap was arraigned for assault and battery, and brought before the judge.

Judge—"What is your name, occupation, and what are you charged with?"

Prisoner—"My name is Sparks; I am an electrician, and I am charged with battery."

Judge (after recovering his equilibrium)—"Officer, put this guy in a dry cell."

LIVINGSTON'S BAKERY

Butcher—"Come, John, be lively now, break the bones in Mr. Simpson's chops and put Mr. Smith's ribs in your basket."

Bill Geisler—"All right, sir; just as soon as I've sawed off Mr. Murphy's leg."

Betty Spory (reading newspaper)—"This terrible war in Spain. We had a Civil War here and what did we get out of it?"

Elva Murray—"Nothing, except 'Gone With the Wind.'"

Bill Mull (stopping his car by the roadside)—"How far is it to Smithville?"

Farmer—"Waal, it's about 24,999 miles the way you're goin', but if you turn around it ain't but four."

CAMP REYNOLDS HI-Y

A short-sighted gentlemen went to choose a pair of spectacles.

"These glasses," he said, "are not strong enough for me."

"But, sir, they are No. 2."

"What is next to No. 2."

"No. 1."

"And after that?"

"After No. 1, sir, you will want a dog."

Archie—"Careful. One single move and this canoe will collapse."

Jean—"Can I move my chewing gum to the other side of my mouth?"

She could swing a six-pound dumbbell,
She could fence and she could box;
She could row upon the river,
She could clamber 'mong the rocks;
She could golf from morn till evening,
And play tennis all day long;
But she couldn't help her mother—
(Cause she wasn't very strong.)

Miss Stouppe—"Why did the ancients believe the earth to be flat?"

Joe Davis—"Because they didn't have any school globes to prove it was round."

POPULAR BECAUSE OF QUALITY

A Scottish horseman went into saddler's shop and asked for one spur.
"But why only one spur?" asked the puzzled clerk.
Replied Jock—"Well, if I can get one side of the horse to go, the other'll go with it."

Waiter—"Are you Hungary?"

Broker—"Yes, Siam."

Waiter—"Den Russian to the table and I'll Fiji."

Broker—"All right, Sweden my coffee and Denmark my bill."

Mother—"Why are you making faces at that bulldog?"

Bill Reese (wailing)—"He started it."

Tourist (In Yellowstone Park)—“Those Indians have a blood-curdling yell.”
Guide—“Yes, ma'am; every one of 'em is a college graduate.”

“Oh, mamma, look!” cried the little girl on her visit to the country. “There's a duck! And it walks like it had just got out of a rumble-seat!”

Two gangsters were escorting a member of a rival gang across a field on a dark and rainy night.

“What rats you are,” grumbled the doomed one, “making me walk through a rain like this.”

“How about us?” growled one of the escorts. “We've got to walk back.”
